

PROGRAMME DEFINITION

MATILDA is a two-year International Master's degree programme in Women's and Gender History. Set up as part of the Erasmus scheme with funding from the European Commission, DG Education and Culture, MATILDA offers students the opportunity to study with leading gender historians and to experience a vibrant, stimulating international university environment.

MATILDA supports integrative perspectives which go beyond local, regional and national history and put women's and gender history as well as European history in a broader context. MATILDA aims to investigate the role of gender in shaping European history and welcomes approaches which explore how place, social position, ethnicity, age, religion and other categories have shaped the history of women and gender.

The MATILDA curricula at the partner universities include courses in core subjects in women's and gender history (theory, methodology, and research skills). Thematic foci, ranging from mediaeval ongoing to contemporary history, include the gendered history of: education; work; family and the life course; migrations; political systems; nationalism, post/colonialism, post/socialism; social movements; feminisms; science; masculinity.

APPLICATION & REQUIREMENTS

MATILDA students can expect to study in at least two different countries over the course of four semesters. MATILDA supports language acquisition as part of the curriculum. The use of the European Credit Transfer System and the Diploma Certificate ensure the programme's transparency and comparability.

Prospective students apply to the partner university where they wish to enroll (see partner institutions).

STUDENTS & ALUMNI TESTIMONIALS

“What I have gained from this innovatively structured MA is a great curiosity about key topics in modern European history and an initial knowledge about how to pursue them, how to make my way through them. I can only hope that other Matildas have found similar joy in researching what they like and receive similar support when struggling as I have.”

Alexandra Ghit, MATILDA graduate (Central European University and University of Nottingham), Postdoctoral Researcher in the project Women’s labour activism in Eastern Europe and transnationally, from the age of empires to the late 20th century (ZARAH).

“MATILDA was a life-changing experience; it has contributed to my new self and given me an international profile highly demanded by employers. I enjoyed the first two semesters at the University of Vienna so much that I was reluctant to pack my stuff again and go on exchange. However, in the end I even got my Erasmus stay extended!”

Zarina María Riva García, MATILDA graduate (University of Vienna and Central European University), Freelance Translator at the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA, Vienna).

MATILDA JOSLYN GAGE (1826 – 1898) WAS A 19TH-CENTURY WOMEN’S SUFFRAGIST, A NATIVE AMERICAN RIGHTS ACTIVIST, AN ABOLITIONIST AND A FREETHINKER, “BORN WITH A HATRED OF OPPRESSION.”

THE “MATILDA EFFECT” DESCRIBES THE SYSTEMATIC UNDER-RECOGNITION OF THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF WOMEN TO SCIENCE. HISTORIAN MARGARET W. ROSSITER SUGGESTED “THAT SOCIOLOGISTS OF SCIENCE AND KNOWLEDGE CAN ADD TO THE ‘MATTHEW EFFECT’ THE ‘MATILDA EFFECT’ NAMED FOR MATILDA J. GAGE, WHO IN THE LATE NINETEENTH CENTURY BOTH EXPERIENCED AND ARTICULATED THIS PHENOMENON.”

MATILDA IS DESIGNED FOR STUDENTS WHO WISH TO DEVELOP EXPERTISE IN INTERDISCIPLINARY AND ENTANGLED WOMEN’S AND GENDER HISTORY, EUROPEAN HISTORY, INTERCULTURAL EXCHANGE, AND PREPARE FOR A REWARDING PROFESSIONAL CAREER.
